

Montgomery Times

Woman Arrested For Not Giving Up Seat.

Today a woman named Rosa Parks was thrown off a public transport bus yesterday at 6pm, when she refused to move for a white man.

The woman aged 42 was on her way home from a long day at work at a department store, when a white man asked her to move and give up her seat. Rosa was horrified and refused to move, as her feet were tired. The man became very frustrated and called the bus driver to try and move parks. When the driver continues to shout at her to move, she simply said no and sat where she was. The angry bus driver puts on the emergency brake and gets up and marches over to Mrs. Parks. He Demanded that she moves to the back of the bus, but she still did not move. Later on that day, the police were called down. Rosa Parks was taken away to prison for breaking the law. A man Called Martin Luther King heard about the news and payed Rosas fine and released her.

